

Macomb Habitat seeking five more participants for its CEO Build

Looking to give back to your community?

Macomb Habitat for Humanity still has five openings for its CEO and VP build on May 24. Macomb Daily File Photo.

Posted: 04/18/18, 8:40 AM EDT |

The Macomb Daily

A lot of bosses delegate work but not during Macomb Habitat's CEO and VP Build May 24.

On this day a host of corporate executive officers and vice-presidents are coming together to help transform a house into a home.

"I can't think of a better way to spend my birthday," said Helen Hicks, president and CEO of Macomb County Habitat for Humanity, and one of more than a dozen business leaders participating in the annual CEO and VP build. "Installing siding with compassionate leaders in our community while networking and helping to make a family's house become a home puts the icing on the cake."

Already committed to the project for a donation fee of $2,500 are (in alphabetical order):

- Jack Aronson, Clean Planet Foods
- Terri Bailey, Kendall Custom Homes
- Don Cameron, Rheinmetall Automotive
- Mashell Carissimi, JMC Electrical Contractor
- Lenny DiGrande, American Fence
- Dawn Drozd, Clear Vision Inc.
- Cynthia Gardner, PNC Bank

- Anne Harpe, PNC Bank
- Helen Hicks, Macomb County Habitat for Humanity
- Angela Lommen, BAE Systems
- Michael Meldrum, Complete Interactive Technologies, Inc.
- Dr. Cleamon Moorer, Baker College
- Superintendent Ron Roberts, Chippewa Valley Schools
- Heidi Sharp, Burgess, Sharp & Golden
- Ursula Warren, Consumers Energy

Besides making a meaningful difference for a future homeowner, these CEOs will spend six hours networking, laughing, working and enjoying a delicious meal together, while encouraging a corporate environment of giving back to the community; and offering a “hand up” to a hardworking, low-income family.

The CEO and VP build will be held at Dakota High School through a partnership with Chippewa Valley Schools and their construction trades program.

There are five open slots still available.

The cost to participate in the CEO Build is $2,500.

For more information visit macombhabitat.org/, call Briana Koehn at 586-263-1540, ext. 119 or email bkoehn@macombhabitat.org.

-- Gina Joseph, The Macomb Daily staff